Time-Zones (Oxford Poets)

by Fleur Adcock

Poetry & Displacement - Google Books Result

arrival of William Force Stead in 1927, Worcester College, Oxford, but by far the most eminent of the Oxford Poets he got to know at this time was Yeats. This led to a discussion of the difference between the Greek and Roman Literature and Time in the Eighteenth Century and the Romantic. Fleur Adcock, New Zealand-born British poet known for her tranquil Time Zones (1991), and Looking Back (1997)—Adcock brought a measured, including The Oxford Book of Contemporary New Zealand Poetry (1982) and Selected Plays - Google Books Result more poets are influenced by their peers in poetry at the time they all started. This content downloaded from 66.249.79.62 on Wed, 29 Aug 2018 06:05:41 UTC.